

Armed Robber Gets $190 From Service Station

City Police today were searching for a Negro man, about 20, who earlier held up and robbed a service station operator of $190 in cash and some checks.

Ervin Madlock, who operates a service station at Third and Pine Streets, told officers that a Negro came into the station about 1 a. m., pulled a pearl handled revolver and demanded his pocketbook.

The Negro reached for the wallet which was chained to Madlock's belt and the gun went off. The bullet, believed to be from a 38 cal. pistol, barely missed Madlock, going through his jacket. It glanced off of a desk and hit a cigarette machine.

Madlock told officers the Negro fled on foot but is believed to have had a car nearby. He described the auto as a 1956 Buick, two-tone green and white with a picture of a duck on the fender near the gas tank. He thought the Negro had been to the station earlier last night in the car.

Madlock told officers he thought the gun went off accidentally.

Controversial Issues Shift Legislature Into High Gear as Maneuvering Speeds Up

By JOHN R. STARR

PTA Gets Advice on Child Care

At a Founders Day Dinner Thursday evening at the Barlow, Miss Amy Jean Green gave the assembled group a gentle lesson on "How To Handle your Children", and she added, "By an Old Maid".

Miss Green kept the audience laughing while she gave good advice on parent-teacher relations for your children. Three lifetime membership pins were awarded to Mrs. Frank King, Mrs. Fred McElroy, and Miss Kathleen Broach.

President Jack Gardner served as master of ceremonies. The program was arranged by Mrs. Jack Gardner.

The Senate had a relatively calm session but a day of frenzied parliamentary maneuvering in the House saw:

Final approval of a bill to boost the truck weight limit and a move to revive a companion measure increasing truck license fees.

A controversial anti-gambling bill tied up by a filibuster. The voter registration bill bottled up in the Rules Committee by a walkout.

The stage set for a floor fight on a proposed soft drink tax bill. Trucking interests picked up 10 votes and succeeded in adding an emergency clause to the weight bill which was passed for the first time Wednesday. It then refused to reconsider the vote by the weight bill passed Wednesday, and shipped the bill to the Senate.

Walt said he would try to boost fees on all trucks except pickups. The bill covers only trucks weighing more than 50,000 pounds.

The emergency clause on the weight bill was vital to truckers because it will make the bill effective as soon as the governor signs it and it will remain in effect even if referral petitions are filed.

Without the clause, effect of the bill could have been suspended if petitions were filed before June 8 and it would have remained suspended until the general vote in November, 1964.

Nine of the new votes on the emergency came from representatives which changed from "no" to "aye" between the two roll calls. They were Frank Carpenter of Clay County, Talbot Field Jr. of Hempstead, W. F. Foster of Lonoke, Mattie Hackett of Lafayette, Buddy Ligon of Pike, N. B. Murphy of Ashley, Nathan Schoenfeld of Garland, Kenneth Sulcer of Mississippi and Walt.

Schoenfeld, who lives at Hot Springs, lashed the gambling bill with some urging by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen.

Schoenfeld was speaking in favor of an amendment he is trying to put on the bill when Van Dalsen asked, "Are you trying to filibuster, Mr. Schoenfeld?"

"I wasn't," Schoenfeld replied, "but, now that you mention it, I will."

The filibuster ended after about 30 seconds as Speaker Marion Crank declared the morning hour expired to save a waste of time. That left Schoenfeld with the right to the floor when the measure came up again today.

The bill by Ashley County Rep. N. B. Murphy would create a special State Police unit to move against gambling. The House defeated a crippling amendment offered by Rep. James Linder of Phillips County who has feuded with Murphy over the bill from.

French Officers Accused of Try to Kill DeGaulle

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—French officials announced today that a group of army officers has been arrested for plotting to kill President Charles de Gaulle. It was the fourth assassination plot against the 72-year-old chief of state reported in 17 months.

Unofficial sources said four high-ranking officers were arrested Thursday night and an intensive search was under way for a fifth officer.

The Interior Ministry refused to make public details of the plot, reportedly because of the hunt for the missing officer.

A hint that something was afoot came Thursday when, prior to a scheduled visit by De Gaulle to the French military school, swarms of armed gendarmes scoured the buildings and rooftops. Nobody would reveal the reason for what appeared to be extraordinary security precautions.

De Gaulle appeared at the school this morning on schedule. The interior ministry's announcement of the plot said only that several army officers had been arrested.

Gen. Compere Succumbs at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Birg. Gen. E. L. Compere (USA-ret.), died in an El Dorado hospital Thursday. He was 72.

Compere had, as head of the Arkansas Selective Service System, directed the induction of some 150,000 Arkansas youths into military service during World War II. He held that post from 1941 until 1954, when he retired and began law practice in El Dorado.

A native of Wicherlyville near Fort Smith, Compere became a first lieutenant in the Arkansas National Guard in 1905 after receiving an L.L.B. degree from the University of Arkansas. He also held the bachelor's degree from Ouachita College at Arkadelphia.

He was made a colonel by 1917 and commanded an overseas unit during World War I. Following the war he became commanding colonel of the infantry of the Arkansas National Guard.

He held this post until 1929, when he was appointed state adjutant general by former Gov. Harvey Parnell.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Emma Lucille Hawkins Compere; two sons, Dr. Edgar L. Compere of Knoxville, Tenn. and Lee H. Compere of Houston, Tex. and four grandchildren.

Funeral Services have not been announced.

The Linder amendment, which was approved by the House State Agencies Committee on a 6-5 vote, would have added an appropriation to finance the new unit. This would have had the effect of increasing from 51 to 75 the number of votes needed to pass the bill.

Schoenfeld wanted to give the new unit authority over both gambling and liquor law violations. Murphy declared that both amendments were designed to kill the bill.

Van Dalsen and Feild staged the walkout on the vote registration bill. Their departure left the committee without a quorum and powerless to return the bill to the floor.

The committee was considering some of the more than 20 amendments which have been offered to the bill. It approved an amendment to require the prospective registrant fill out his application in his own handwriting in the presence of the registrar and reject-

Ellis Named Asst. Secy. by Loan Firm

Leonard F. Ellis

Hope Federal Savings & Loan Association today announced the appointment of Leonard F. Ellis as assistant secretary-manager.

The announcement was made by J. P. Duffie, president of the firm, who issued the following statement:

"We are especially pleased to add Leonard Ellis to the staff of our official family. His long experience in real estate, insurance and the home mortgage field is one of proven ability, success and integrity. He fits well into our expansion plans.

"Building or buying a new home or the improvement of an old one, is always exciting. Our firm is interested in providing these funds to make safe, sound and stable investments in our community. "Dollar's spent in the home building industry helps keep our community busy and productive, and do their part in keeping the American standard of living at a high level.

"With the addition of Leonard Ellis to our staff, we hope to be of greater service than ever before in the field of home financing. He will be an assistant to Fred O. Ellis, who has served the organization well in the past several years," Mr. Duffie concluded.

ed one which would have struck an earlier amendment to permit relatives to register for the voter. Committee Chairman Glenn Walther agreed that there was a conflict in the two amendments.

Van Dalsen and Feild left when Mrs. John Reid, legislative chairman of the Arkansas Association of University Women, got the floor to argue against any amendment which might cripple the bill.

Van Dalsen said Mrs. Reid was talking about a "simple" bill, not the one the committee was considering. He objected to her speaking and walked out when Walther said she could go ahead.

Walther said he would try to get the committee together again next week for a new effort to send the bill back to the floor.

Van Dalsen's Revenue and Taxation Committee voted 5-4 for a "do pass" recommendation on the soft drink tax bill by Rep. Lloyd George of Yell County.

The bill would tax soft drinks one cent per bottle and soft drink syrup 90 cents per gallon with the money going for city streets and county roads.

George would not say when he plans to bring the bill up for passage.

Committee approval even by the close vote, was somewhat surprising. A soft drink tax bill was withdrawn two years ago in the face of mounting opposition.

George said his bill is the only one of cities and counties to get more road funds from this session and he thinks it will pass.

The Senate spent most of its day working on secondary and local bills.

It gave 23-5 approval to a meas-

Iceberg Wife Has Husband Hot, Bothered

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Most husbands probably lack the temerity to write you and I certainly shouldn't be typing this letter in an effort to remain anonymous, if I weren't desperate. My problem is a wife whose veins flow with ice-water. She is an iceberg where I'm concerned, very time I attempt to put my arms around her or give her a warm kiss she slithers out of reach. Until we married, it was the other way around. She was the aggressor—greeting me with a kiss every time we met, slipping an affectionate arm through mine on the street, holding hands in the movies; exciting me to the point where I had to put the brakes on or be sorry.

Once the preacher pronounced us man and wife, it was another story and our wedding night a complete frost. Seems like all she wanted was my name and money. I am an executive with a fine salary. Where have I failed? What in your opinion causes a wife to act this way? I realize that there can be many reasons but what, in your opinion, is the main one? Believe me, plenty of husbands would like to know. I have read that around 40 per cent of the marriages go on the rocks because of frigidity in the wives. Are their parents to blame for not teaching them the facts of life? If so, why? I should think that parents would want their daughters to have happy married lives. There is that verse in the Bible which says, "Husbands love your wives; wives submit to your husbands." Is that out-of-date today? —Unhappy Husband

Dear Unhappy: According to the Kinsey Report, your wife is the exception to the rule. The change began with women who were born in the early 1900's and married in the late 20's. But coldness on the part of the woman is still one of the major causes of divorce. The influence of the Victorians who believed that no well-bred female should betray her emotions, is still upon us.

Love, to be real and deep and lasting, must be mutual. The causes for coldness are, generally speaking, divided into three groups: one, the physical, often times the result of a glandular deficiency. Check with your physician. Two: mental—chiefly the result of Victorian prudery. Also the fear that love-making is sinful. Talk this out with your wife. Three: lack of chemical attraction. Unless a couple are attuned to one another, unity is almost hopeless. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper for my leaflet, "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: A week ago I broke with my fiancée. Three days after he tried to date me again. And now, four days later, this leech still thinks he owns me. I try to discourage him every way possible but he persists upon "hanging all over me" in public and follows me wherever I go, even when not invited. How can I get rid of him? —Confused

Dear Confused: Go your own sweet way and pay no attention to this lovesick lad. Move on when he attempts to join you. He'll get the idea eventually that you are through, provided you act as if you were. Give the rebuffs time to sink in. I'm sorry for the kid. Can't you pass him along to another girl friend?

Dear Helen: The husband of my husband's ex-girl friend died some time ago. Now, out of a clear sky, she sent a Valentine to my husband on which she wrote, "A letter from you will be most welcome." He got so excited he stuck her Valentine in his pocket and ran around whistling like a school boy. Last night he wrote her address in his address book. What do you make of all this? —Troubled

Dear Troubled: It's a premature attack of spring fever. Kill it off by exposure. Fraise her so much that your husband will be sick and tired of hearing her name. Tell everybody about her. There's nothing like the spotlight of publicity to kill romance. An affair to be successful must be clandestine.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"You haven't anything on anybody," said Johnson.

Matt smiled. "All that you've said is on tape, Johnson. Your office has been bugged."

Johnson looked helplessly around the room. He figured there'd be wires, but it wasn't that kind of a bug.

"Jack Clague was your errand boy," said Matt.

The fight went out of Johnson. "You're right," he said. "As far as Chet was concerned he was in the clear on the tepee tube. He told me about it at lunch that day. I called Calgus and told him to throw up a smoke screen, promising him a promotion, a better job in the appliance division. He was to tell Chet he'd broken his patent agreement and that a full report was to be made to Bradley. I expected that Chet would call Bradley, but instead he saw through it and tried to phone Rispin."

"I knew Clague was the only man who could have gotten a key to the back door of the lab," said Matt. "The night watchman's keys are kept in his office. But watchmen don't come on duty till 6 p. m."

Suddenly the door opened. Jack Clague was standing there.

"Join the party, Jack," said Matt.

Clague gave Matt a puzzled glance, then turned to look at Johnson.

"Am I butting in on something?" he asked.

"Not at all," said Matt before Johnson could reply. "If you hadn't turned up just now, I would have gone out looking for you."

"Yeah?"

"Es," said Matt. "Johnson and I have been talking and we've been mentioning you."

Clague knew from the look on Johnson's face and the sweat on his brow that Matt had learned everything.

"I was crazy to bring you into this case," Clague said to Matt. "His hand moved toward the pistol holster at his side. But Matt already had pulled his own police positive from inside his coat."

"Hold it," Matt said.

Johnson's eyes were on the gun on the desk to shoot Clague. He'd stood slightly he could grab it and get the drop on both Matt and Clague. He'd take Clague's gun, shoot Matt, and use the gun on the desk to shoot Clague. He'd be a hero for killing the murderer Clague—the killer shot Matt.

Afterwards he'd find that tape recorder somehow.

Johnson dived for the gun. It was his only chance. Matt turned. He fired.

Johnson fell flat on the desk, reaching for the gun. His fingers twitched as he still tried to reach the weapon, then he slowly slid to the floor.

Matt brought his gun around to cover Clague, but Clague was no longer there. Poor, dumb Jack Clague, the man who hated violence, yet had chosen to be a cop, and who now was involved in homicide. Jack had taken a powder, afraid of whatever consequence he had lain awake nights dreaming of.

Startled employees looked up as Matt raced through the large room outside Johnson's office.

Reaching the door, Matt saw Clague, crouched in the entrance to the stairway leveling a pistol at him. Matt sprang back as Clague's gun crashed twice. Bullets splattered powder from the walls.

As Clague's feet pattered down the stairway, Matt followed cautiously. Clague's gun banged downstairs and someone yelled.

At the bottom of the stairway, a security cop crouched in a doorway. Above his head the door was splintered by a bullet. The cop pointed wildly in the direction of the front entrance.

Matt heard shooting. Looking through the door, Matt saw Moynihan behind a tree, firing at Clague, who was starting to run around the building. Good old Fred Bernard, who had called Moynihan. Matt knew that the lieutenant had not seen the note he had left. Clague had seen it first.

Already robbed of reason, Clague ran like an animal toward the nearest cover, which was the Bevatron building itself.

Matt came after him, into the barn-like room, the home of the atom smashing machine. There was no sign of Clague when Matt stopped and looked at the maze of equipment.

A bell rang.

"Hey you!" a voice came thundering through a loudspeaker. "Get into the control shelter. This is a hot run."

"Wait!" Matt yelled.

"This stuff doesn't wait," said the voice. "Get in the bunker or you're dead."

Matt darted toward the concrete shelter to his left. He squeezed through the doorway.

The room was full of people—Rispin, Stroup, McCann, Bradley, even Beth Baylor. They stared at him.

"Stop it!" Matt yelled.

"All clear," said the voice box. "It's too late," said Stroup, pointing to the closed circuit television screen. "She's going."

The finals will be played Saturday night.

Ouachita Has Gained a Half Game

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Ouachita gained a half-game lead in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball war Thursday night, defeating Henderson 103-97 in an overtime game.

After a see-saw first half and a nearly one-sided second period, Wayne Davenport tied the game with 13 seconds to go. Henderson reserve Gerald Lloyd, fouled just as the buzzer sounded ending the regulation game, had a chance to save the victory for Henderson, but missed the charity shot.

Ouachita, with a 12-3 record, tied the overtime and iced the game with 1:24 to go.

The game set up a battle for the AIC lead Saturday night, when Ouachita, with a 12-3 record, tangles with Arkansas A&M, 12-2.

Davenport paced Ouachita with 31 points. Leon Clements had 18, Bill Heaton 17 and David Koss over 13.

Sam Barker was game high scorer, dumping in 37 points for the Reddies. He could do no wrong in the first half and hit 9 of 12 free throws. Kenneth Lewis backed him up with 24 points, Bobby Shirron hit 14 and Joe Burson, 13.

Boxing Probers May Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — The legislative committee investigating pro boxing in New York may stay in business with the building of a physical fitness program its main aim.

Assemblyman Howard Plumadore, the committee chairman, indicated that Thursday at a Boxing Writers Luncheon.

"The boxing hearings stressed the need for physical fitness," said Plumadore, a former wrestler and football player for St. Lawrence University. "It brought in other fields outside of boxing. Physical fitness might very well become the major part of our program."

Promised Present Valentine's Day

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Not-so-young lovers in tiny Monaco Thursday were promised a Valentine's Day present.

Revision of an old law requiring persons under 30 years of age to get their fathers' permission before marrying.

The legislature decided to lower the age to 21 following a complaint by Jean Joseph Marquet, a town councilman who has performed more than 100 civil marriage ceremonies.

Marquet was upset because he himself had to ask papa before he got married at the not-so-tender age of 26.

Races Start at Oaklawn Saturday

HOOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Arcopolis, the winner of the 1962 Arkansas Derby, was among the 27 thoroughbreds nominated Thursday for the $10,000 inaugural handicap, which will usher in Oaklawn Park's 43-day racing season here Saturday.

Arcopolis and several others will be making their first starts as four-year-olds, but the role of the favorite is expected to go to some more seasoned campaigner.

Dominating the nominations for the fixture were entries by W. Hal Bishop and Marion H. Van Berg. Bishop had five horses and Van Berg had four.

Among the more prominent entries were Gomer Evans' Gay Revolve, J. Graham Brown's Run for Nurse and Joseph Shaver's Troa. Run for Nurse won several handicaps at Chicago and Kentucky tracks last year and Troa is a recent New Orleans winner.

The race is designed for three-year-olds and up.

Racing Secretary Alan W. Lavin said he saw little possibility of the 5½ furlong opener being run in two divisions this year, as it was in 1962. He said he expected the names of only about 10 starters to be dropped into the overnight entry box.

A record number of horses worked out Thursday as trainers hurried the animals to readiness for the coming campaign.

Dry sunny weather has helped in getting the track into peak condition and clockers predicted it may be the fastest in years by Saturday, if the present weather holds.

Six Athletes Sign With the Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Six more outstanding schoolboy athletes have signed University of Arkansas letters of intent, Coach Frank Broyles announced Thursday.

Topping the list is Tommy Saint, tackle for Jonesboro's unbeaten 2AA champions.

Others included Tim Rhodes, 6-0, 190-pound fullback from Lewisville; Bill Douglas, a 210-pound tackle from El Dorado, Kan.; Lloyd Moore, 180-pound fullback-quarterback from Fordyce; Jim Higham, 195-pound fullback from North Little Rock and Lloyd Hamby, 185-pound fullback from Fullerton.

Jonesboro Coach Bill Davidson calls Saint "as good a lineman as I've ever seen." Army recruiter George Terry labels him as "the best line prospect in Dixie."

Jim MacKenzie, Arkansas Defensive Coach, who signed Douglas, calls the Kansas native "a fine looking kid—gangly but he'll get bigger." Douglas earned honorable mention all-state and his team was co-champs of the Arkansas Valley League.

Rhodes, according to his high school coach Bob Hood, "is dedicated and he'd rather run over you than around you."

Moore was voted outstanding back in District 8A-North and was on the Class A all-state team. He moved from fullback to quarterback his senior year.

Hamby was a three-sport letterman and was all-state in football. Higham was injured for most of his senior season but played the last two games.

Arkansas Players Rank Nationally

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three Arkansas basketball players are listed in national rankings in statistics released by the NIA office in Kansas City.

James Allen of Arkansas A&M moved into eighth place in scoring with 359 points in 21 games for a 26.6 point average. Leading scorer is Bob Johnson of Pitchburg, Mass. with a 38.6 average. Ken Saylor ranked 12th, with a 25.6 average. Ron Taylor of A&M is eighth in field goal shooting with 110 of 178 for a .618 percentage.

Saylor fractured his wrist in a game earlier this week and is out for the season. He also held the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference scoring lead.

Allen is fifth in free throw shooting with an .880 percentage—169 of 192.

In team free throw accuracy, A&M ranked ninth with a .744 percentage. Arkansas A&M is 25th with .719.

Panthers of Pitt Lick W. Virginia

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitt's Panthers may have won bigger games or scored victories that were more satisfying. But not this season. That's for sure.

Two weeks ago at Pitt, the Panthers lost a heart-breaking one-point decision to West Virginia, 68-67, when a potential winning field goal with one second left was not allowed.

The Panthers, unranked nationally but one of the country's better independents, made up for that one with a 69-68 triumph at West Virginia Wednesday night.

Paul Krieger dropped in two free throws with 12 seconds left to provide the tying and winning points as the Panthers advanced their record to 15-4 for the season.

Duke and Georgia Tech protected their positions in the top ten rankings, but each had trouble doing it. Third-ranked Duke won its 12th in a row in a 79-74 edge over Virginia at Charlottesville and 10th ranked Georgia Tech broke out of a two-game losing slump at the expense of Vanderbilt.

Hairston Is Worth 25 Points Game

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports writer

"About 25 points a game."

That was the reply of New York University basketball coach Lou Rossini Thursday when asked how big a difference it made to have big, smooth Happy Hairston back on the squad.

Actually it may be more.

The quick, deft junior scored 119 points in the four games he has played since sitting out a semester's scholastic ineligibility. That's an average of almost 30 a game.

The 6-foot-7 Hairston combined with his favorite running mate, Barry Kramer, for 73 points in an important 102-71 rout of a good Holy Cross team Thursday. Both Rossini and Holy Cross coach 11-3.

Frank Ofring called the Madison Square Garden match "one of the big ones."

Hairston tossed in 38 points and Kramer, the Nation's No. 2 major college scorer, added 35 in an edgy St. Louis 64-62, Tulsa out-awesome display against the Crusaders, who were operating under a decided height disadvantage.

Iona edged Massachusetts 61-54 consecutive loss, 81-43.

in the opener of the doubleheader.
